1. INTENT

This Policy outlines the scope, commitment and responsibilities of the University with respect to providing, maintaining and continuously improving, so far as is reasonably practicable, a safe and healthy working and learning environment for its workers, students and the community.

2. ORGANISATIONAL SCOPE

This Policy applies to all ECU Workers, students and visitors conducting activities on behalf of Edith Cowan University (ECU) both within Australia and overseas. Our campuses outside of Western Australia will comply with this policy and with relevant local Health and Safety (HS) legislation as a minimum. Where there is a difference, the higher standard will apply.

4. POLICY CONTENT

ECU has the goal of providing a healthy and safe working and learning environment at all our global locations, where our people are protected from physical and psychological injury, ill health, disease or harm arising from our activities.

ECU is committed to achieving its goal by:

- Implementing and continuously improving our health and safety management system, as outlined in ECU's Health and Safety Management System Framework, to ensure we fulfil our legal and other requirements and meet industry best practice;
- Applying the requirements of the Health and Safety Management System across all areas and activities of the University;
- Collaborating and consulting with workers, students and industry partners about decisions that may affect their health, safety and wellbeing. This will be accomplished using consultative mechanisms, including ECU Health and Safety committees and working groups, hazard and incident management processes and engagement with health and safety representatives;
- Setting and regularly reviewing measurable and proactive health and safety targets at the senior management level, that are aimed at reducing workplace injury, ill health, disease and risk; and
- Adopting a process of systematic health and safety risk management, consistent with the principles of ISO 45001 Occupational health and Safety Management Systems – Requirements with Guidance for use that forms the foundation of our research, teaching and operational activities to ensure we understand workplace risks and use this information to inform our planning and decision making. In doing so, hazards that may cause physical or psychological injury, ill health, disease or harm, are identified, assessed and controlled to as low as is reasonably practicable.

To realise our vision, the University is committed to strong visible leadership where health and safety is integrated into all University activities. At ECU, health and safety is a shared responsibility and everyone has an important role in helping us maintain a safe and healthy environment. This may be as simple as reporting any potential hazards so they can be promptly addressed.
