Would you like to find out more about consumer and community involvement (CCI) in research?

The Introduction to CCI Masterclass is designed for both researchers AND consumers/people with a lived experience. The course provides an introductory 'theory into practice' approach and highlights the following topics:

- the importance and significance of CCI in health research and innovation;
- an in depth understanding of the multiple ways consumers can be involved in research; and
- a 'how to' of designing a CCI Plan for research projects.

**prerequisites are required for attendees
(see the Masterclass webpage for further details)*
